Of his goodie he bouches not rea.
But east of the fallen crumbes of the feast
When tho dear Hittle folls are dood.
Every child has a gaft from his pack,
News a not focus hem with the did man
When you find who the old man is.
Thus sale of seats for John T. Raymond vill begin this morning at Baumer's.

There was a magnificent market in the Second ward yesterday afternoon, and never was there a more tempting display. Turkeys began selling at 10 cents, but ran down to 5 cents in some instances before the close; geese from 30 to 40; ducks, 20 to 35; pheasants, 15 to 30; parridges, 10; eggs, 40 to 50; butter, 20 to 25, and apples 15 to 20 cents a peck. The attendance was very large.

WHILE the compositors in the INTELLI-While the compositors in the Intelligences composing room, last evening, were occupied in admiring the Christmass presents received, in common with the balance of the employes, from the proprietors, and discussing the problem as to which would go the farthest, a turkey or a silk "wipe," the sanctuary was invaded by J. Kemple, Esq., who brought with him, as a present to the "boys," a liberal supply of apples, cider and cigars, and while the good cheer was being demolished, Jake amused the banqueters with several choice anecdotes.

THERE is a pernicious habit among cerfain railroad employes which has been more than oace called to our attention, viz: allowing and encouraging boys who have picked up a knowledge of braking and switch-changing to do these offices for them instead of attending to them themselves. There have been instances where serious accidents have taken place on account of this criminal carelessness, and there have been some fatal results of it.
Boys should be discouraged from any such practices by the train officials, and repeated complaints will make us more expitcit in our next allusion to this matter.

The eighteenth Christmas anniversary

peated companies and price to our next allusion to this matter. The eighteenth Christmas anniversary of the English Lutheran Mission Sabbath School will be appropriately observed at their Sunday School rooms to-morrow afternoon. The school has usually held their anniversaries in one of our public halls, but unable to secure the hall for this year, it has changed, to some extent, the character of the exercises, and prepared its own rooms for an appropriate celebration of the gala day. We have been requested to say that everybody will be welcome who can get inside the rooms. A Christmas offering for the support of the church will be a privilege allowed all who attend, The services will be full of interest to old and young, and will commence at 2 o'clock.

explicit terms that he was not a candidate nor would he accept a nomination. Thus endeth the second chapter, and with its termination we are thrown into the field. In one corner of this training pasture we discover Wm. C. Handlan, of the Eighth ward, who is in the same position practically that the belogged Democrat was whose exclamation initiates this article. He has two rocks of rather large proportions to steer clear of in the narrow channel of Democratic possibilities in this city. First, if he gets the nomination, which is questionable, he will have to beat the combined forces of Caldwell and Sheriff Tingle, or rather not the combined forces but the strong separate force of each. Each of these gouldemen has made something of a reputation for looking after the interests of his; riends, and no man is better aware of what interest this pair will take in his election than W. C. Handlan himself, and the knowledge of this kindness of intention toward him is what gives him pause. Our reporter took occasion a day or two age to call on Mr. Handlan to secertain his views, but he declined to any anything "just now," and being

BANTA CLAUS.

Pretty Little Cantata Performance the Fourth Street M. E. S. S., Last Night. The Fourth Street M. E. Church Sunday School, last night, with the assistance of the choir of the church gave the above cantata in a manner that commended it to the large audience present, which filled every nook and corner of the spacious ecture room. The room was nicely trimmed with evergreers, a stage erected at the rear for the grand chorus, cartains arranged with good effect, the whole under the able di-rection of Dr. Logan, the efficient Super-intendent of the School, also director of

After the singing of "Old Hundred," assisted by the large audience, and a short prayer by Rev. Masden, the cantata was rendered, commencing with a chorus, followed by a carol by the infant class. Then followed solos, duetts, quartettes, &c., all being rendered with precision and good taste. good taste.

Solos were sung during the evening by the Misses Logaus, Britt, Carson, Land, Lewis and Forsyth, and Messrs. Day, Orr and Bullard, all members of the choir; also duetts, quartetts, &c.

Tilly added much to the enjoyment of the evening by their natural acting and singing, while personating the little children retiring Christmas eve, and adding a post-scrip to their little prayer, "that Old Santa Claus would fill their stockings full," but after they hopped into bed, after a little consultation, they concluded to exchange their little stockings for mother's large ones, which created much meriment, but we thought they showed more faith in prayer than the average adult.

Presently is heard the approach of Old Santa Claus, who soon appears, and while the little sleepers are dreaming, their stockings are filled, and soon they awake and examine their presents in true child-like manner. All then assemble, with Old Santa Claus, in a grand chorns. A short dialogue, in which the children are reminded of their Heavenly Father and His care, distribution of presents, &c.

His care, distribution of presents, &c.
We can hardly hope to do justice to what may be considered the prize Christmas
Sunday School entertainment. Nothing coursed during the evening to mar the propriety of the occasion, and the event will long be remembered by all present, aspecially the children, as an occasion of more than ordinary interest.

PRESENTATIONS.—Mr. Thomas J. Chambers, foreman of the cutting department at the Central Glass Works, was surprised by his employers yesterday, who marched into his room in a body, headed by Tom Mayberry, who, in a short speech, presented him with a magnificent gold headed cane, properly inscribed. Mr. Chambers replied in a very nest little speech, thanking his friends and wishing them a merry Christmas.

For Street Commissioner, Pat Kenny of the First ward, George Boettner, of the Forth ward, L. W. Stevens, of the Sixth ward, and James W. Nichols, of the Eighth ward, are candidates. The race is, so far as the sentiment we have encountered indicates, between Nicholl and Stevens. For Superintendent of the Water Works there is a contest between Measrs. John W. Cummins, Wm. The mention of the names of the gentlemen was only casual. In regard to the Sergeantcy, I can only speak of what I have heard of the candidates in my own neighborhood—I mean over in the lifth and Sixth wards. There it is nothing but Bipgell. He will just sweep those wards. I don't know much about other caudidates.
